WINTER DRIVE ON CAUCASUS NAZI PLAN

Washington Calm As London Wonders About Safety Of Litvinov

LONDON, (UP)—Continued lack of news regarding an airplane carrying Maxim Litvinov, Russian ambassador to Washington, Laurence A. Steinhardt, U. S. ambassador to Russia and Sir Noel Monckton of the British ministry of information from Kuibyshev caused some uneasiness here today. The plane was expected at Tehran, Iran (Persia), about two days ago.

Flight Secret

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Official sources here expressed no concern today over lack of news concerning the whereabouts of an airplane carrying Maxim Litvinov, Soviet ambassador to the United States, and Laurence A. Steinhardt, U. S. ambassador to Russia.

Officials said "it was natural that such a flight be treated with utmost secrecy."

By UNITED PRESS

Axis preparations for an "all out" drive toward the Caucasus today intensified threats of winter war in the middle east from the Libyan desert to the Pacific.

The immediate key to the shift of big-scale fighting toward warmer climates was a German push to the Kerch fortifications guarding the straits separating Crimea from the Caucasus roadway and mobilization of Axis reserves for an offensive against the Red army's line along the Donets river.

In the background were preparations by both Britain and the Axis to fight in the north African desert in the coming winter months and the threats of Japan to strike southward without delay because of

Roll Call In Full Swing

Several "100 Per Centers" Reported By Committee Up To Thursday Morning

Armistice Day touched off the Red Cross Roll Call throughout the nation and from now until November 30th, the annual enrollment will be under way.

El Dorado County Chapter, under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Sinclair, Roll Call chairman, reported several one hundred per cent enrollments up to Thursday morning.

According to Mrs. Sinclair, the first group to sign up one hundred per cent and present its paid up memberships, is the Placerville Grammar school faculty.

Other groups which have reported a one hundred per cent enrollment include Diamond Springs Lime Company, El Dorado Limestone Company, Pacific Gas & Electric Company, Purity Stores, Inc., and Lutz Motors Company.

Mrs. Sinclair also announced that the Farm Bureau Home Economics section, which has been inactive in recent years, has closed out its account and has turned over to the Red Cross a $5 unappropriated balance in its treasury.

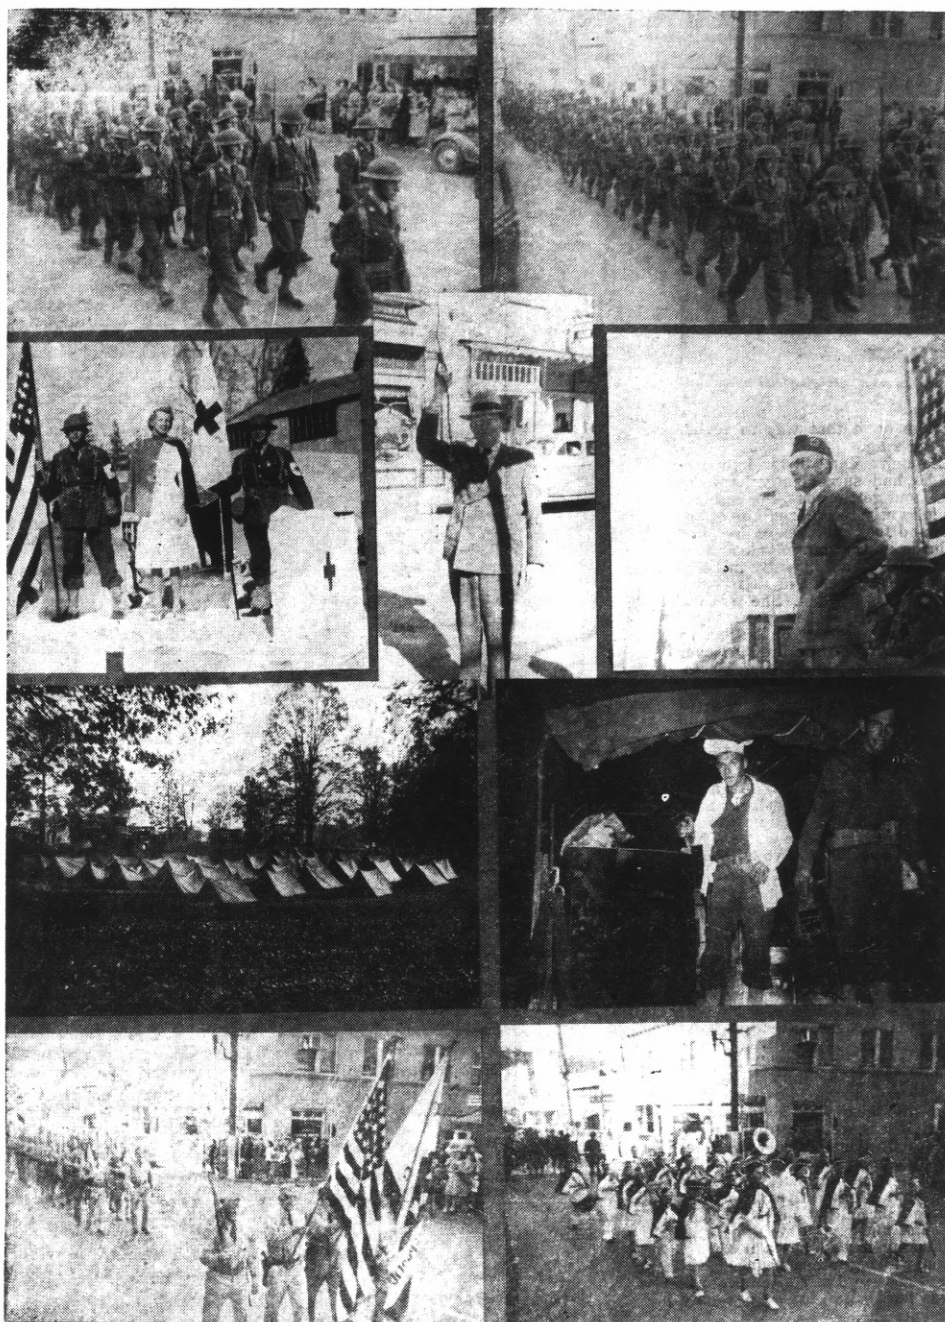

Expressing an appreciation for the community of effort in support of the Roll Call, Mrs. Sinclair suggested that Red Cross members and other friends may be interested in a nation-wide radio program in behalf of the Roll Call, which will be heard over all major networks on Sunday morning, from 9:30 until 10:30 o'clock.

Many of the friends of Mrs. Ella Norris, of Coloma, have noticed that her name has not appeared among the Roll Call chairmen for this year. Mrs. Norris, who has served faithfully and regularly each year for a score or more of years, asked to be excused from active work in the Roll Call this year.

SCHOOLS OUT FOR WEEK

Teacher Institute And Thanksgiving Holiday Give Pupils Vacation

The week opening Monday, November 17th, will be a vacation from classrooms for the pupils of El Dorado County schools and classes will meet again on Monday, November 24th.

The holiday results from the circumstances that the annual teacher institute will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, is a holiday, by proclamation, and the several boards of trustees have or will declare Friday a holiday rather than call classes for just the one day.

The teacher institute sessions will be held, as usual, at Sacramento, where teachers from El Dorado County will share with teachers from schools in Sacramento and several other adjoining counties.

Theme for the three-day meeting is "Building a Stronger America" and a review of the preliminary program reflects an appreciation by those in charge of the important part the schools may play in preparing the youth of the nation for a continuing contribution to their own and the nation's welfare.

District Attorney Henry Lyon was at Mather Field Sunday to assist, in his capacity as junior past grand president of the Native Sons, in the unveiling of a plaque in memory of American pioneers in aviation. The Grand Parlor of Native Daughters shared in the activity.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie D. Rogers, of Pollock Pines, are the parents of a daughter, born last weekend at a hospital in Sacramento.

ARMY'S DRAFT PLAN CHANGED

Regional Medical Boards Will Attempt to Reduce Last Minute Rejections

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Beginning Nov. 24, a new system of physical examination for selective service registrants will be inaugurated to protect registrants and eliminate induction station rejections, it was announced today by state headquarters.

The plan prevents the occasional example of a man passing his local medical examination, then being turned down at the induction station by army doctors.

Registrants previously selected for induction during the period Nov. 12 to Dec. 5 will follow the existing procedure. Later registrants, however, will be directed to centers where regular army examining teams will conduct a combined primary and final physical examination.

The registrants then will be returned to their homes. In event the physical examinations are passed, and barring new medical developments, class 1-A selectees will report directly to reception centers within about 60 days.

It was explained this eliminates the former necessity for complete physical examination by civilian doctors. Local board physicians will make only a simple physical inspection.

Examining centers will be set up in 13 California cities. San Francisco and Los Angeles are designated as permanent, with Sacramento, Fresno, Redding, Marysville, Stockton, Santa Rosa, San Jose, Bakersfield, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino and San Diego designated as temporary stations. In sparsely populated or inaccessible areas civilian medical boards will continue to operate.

HOUSE UPHOLDS SENATE IN VOTE TO ARM SHIPS AND SAIL IN WAR ZONES

Amendment To Neutrality Revision Act Is Sustained By Vote Of 212 To 194; Roosevelt May Handle Threatened Coal Mine Strike

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Rallying administration strength following a bolt of some important Democrats yesterday, the House of Representatives today concurred in Senate amendments to the neutrality revision bill by a vote of 212 to 194.

The original house bill merely authorized arming of merchant ships. The administration forces in the senate amended it to include repeal of sections 2 and 3 of the neutrality act so as to permit American merchant ships to travel through combat zones directly to the ports of Britain and other belligerents.

The house convened at 11 a. m., but a quorum was not present. On motion of Chairman Sol Bloom, D., N. Y., of the foreign affairs committee, a quorum roll call was taken to bring in the requisite 215 members.

The handful of comparatively important house democrats who yesterday bolted Mr. Roosevelt on the question of sending our ships into war zones apparently were moved largely by dissatisfaction with the administration's handling of defense strikes.

Most cheerful aspect of the whole situation today is that it may be resolved within the next 24 or 48 hours.

Mr. Roosevelt has invited representatives of the steel companies and the mine workers to meet with him at the White House tomorrow. Just prior to that conference, President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America will meet here with the executive committee of the miners union. From there Lewis will go directly to the White House and there is a chance, at least, for the

County Building Permits Voted

Supervisors Create New Election Precinct In Missouri Flat Section

Provision for the issuance of building permits for the erection of buildings exceeding certain costs and size within the county, and the creation of a new election precinct, the forty-sixth in the county, were features of the November meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

The building permit ordinance is, apparently, an attempt on the part of the Board of Supervisors to assist in conveying onto the tax roll such new homes and other structures, including summer homes, which may from time to time be erected.

The ordinance provides that a permit must be obtained when the cost of such building exceeds one hundred square feet of floor space. The permit fee is one dollar and failure to comply with the law is punishable by a fine of not more than $50.

The new election precinct, number 46 in the county, is Missouri Flat precinct and will be known by that number.

LEFTS VERSUS RIGHTS IN SESSION SUNDAY ON FAIRWAYS

It may sound like politics in high circles, but it's only a golf match scheduled for Sunday at the Placerville course, with the lefts opposing the rights.

There are no preliminary lineups and any lefts or rights who want to take part in the match will just show up at the course Sunday morning.

This is one of the weekly series of special events mapped by the club to take advantage of the excellent condition of the course at this time.

Last Sunday it was a flag tournament, and Bob Patterson led the pack with Leo Burger and Joe Hearn in close pursuit. Not so close but still in pursuit were Roy Strum, John Palmer, Ben Larson and Malcolm Wright.

DRUID CIRCLE ELECTS, PLANS INSTALLATION ON DECEMBER 9

The regular meeting of the Druid Circle Tuesday evening had one new application for membership and elected officers who will be installed on the evening of December 9.

Mrs. Richmond will be in charge of the afternoon card party at Eagles Hall on November 25. The next regular meeting will be a "birthday night" and also the occasion for a shower for Mrs. Everson, a recent bride.

State Senator H. E. Dillinger is speaking before various Granges of the county in support of the Red Cross Roll Call. He recently addressed Hangtown Grange and has been asked to speak before Pleasant Valley Grange this coming week.

George Darrington was a caller on Thursday from the Folsom vicinity.

POLLOCK PINES NEWS

Rev. Duniap, chaplain of Folsom Prison, has been holding church services every Sunday afternoon at Fresh Pond, and will continue all winter. Everyone is invited to attend and share in the service.

The P. T. A. met Wednesday in its regular session. Several important matters were cared for and reports on the Carnival heard. The group decided to sponsor a local troop of Boy Scouts and Cubs as soon as present plans mature.

The electric range purchased for the school kitchen arrived last week and is in process of being installed.

The Girl Scouts went on an all-day hike to Badger Hill Saturday with Mrs. Ruth Baumhoff and Miss Merry Phillips as leaders. The girls reported a nice trip and hope for more later.

Saturday evening the P. T. A. had a card party at the school. It is hoped this will be the first of a series to keep the hot lunch fund in liquidation during the winter. The many friends of Mrs. George Phippen are sorry to hear she is ill in a hospital in Sacramento where she underwent a major operation on Tuesday.

A good many of the local Girl Scouts were representing their troop in the Armistice Day Parade in Placerville Tuesday.

Mrs. Ray Wakeman has hosted to the Pioneer Club at her home in Fresh Pond last Thursday afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served to about twelve ladies.

Mrs. Wiley was at the school on Monday to hold her regular classes in music instruction. She is forming a school orchestra and hopes to have it going nicely in a few months. There are three guitars, clarinet, trombone, trumpet, Saxophone, two marimbas and piano so far. Also the school has two tonette bands, beginners and advanced groups, and a rhythm band of primary pupils under her supervision and the training of Mrs. Baumhoff.

GOLD HILL NEWS NOTES

Gold Hill is happy to have welcomed the boys of Co. D home once again, especially those from our own community and it was with considerable pride that we listened to the fine report that their captain gave of them on the Armistice Day program.

Plans are definitely completed for the annual Red Cross drive in our district and we surely hope for a generous response.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Dunfee of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Wilkinson of Placerville visited with Mrs. Margaret Veerkamp on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Dunfee is the former Eleanor Owen of Placerville and a niece of Mrs. Veerkamp.

Miss Ruth Baker of the Woodland high school faculty and formerly of the El Dorado county high school, was the guest of honor at a buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Veerkamp.

Miss Baker entertained the guests of the evening by showing the moving pictures she took this past summer while touring South America. These included scenes from the old Inca ruins both on Lake Titicaca and on the east and west coasts.

She also displayed a colorful collection of native Indian costumes. Games and refreshments concluded the evening program. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Volz, Mr. and Mrs. George Volz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Harper, Miss Ruth Baker and the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Akin and family and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Veerkamp and family journeyed to near Tepepa on Sunday to view the ruins of the late bomber crash there.

Mrs. Alice Veerkamp and sons and Mrs. Maud Fox of Placerville were visitors in Gold Hill Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ada Niebauer and sons spent Sunday evening at the Veerkamp home.

Mrs. Lucy O'Hare was a visitor at Pollock Pines over the weekend.

L. J. "Doc" Anderson addressed a fiery speech to the students at our annual Armistice Day program. He was accompanied by some of his comrades and was introduced by Post Commander Cecil Barker.

Monday, Nov. 10, activities period an assembly was held for the game at San Juan. Tuesday, A short skit of "Second Fiddle" was put on by the senior dramatics class.

Our final game of the season was played and lost at San Juan. The score was 19 to 6—San Juan on top of the heap.

One bus load of rooters and the band went to San Juan with the team. The games bus had a flat tire just on this side of Folsom. May-be they should have buzzed over to the prison. They say the accommodations over there are swell.

The senior play to be presented Thursday night, November 13, promises to be a great success. The title of the play is "Second Fiddle." The male leads are held down by Ray Lumley and Gilbert Cook, Ed-dis Howe, Earla Poole, Eleanor Hall, Bettina Yensen, and "Milly" Strickland are nobly playing the feminine roles.

Basketball season is practically here. The teams are sure to be the best ever. The "A" team is a sure fire success this year. The "B" team has everything but experience.

"Hi Gossip"

It seems queer that the home-coming of Co. D, 115 Engineers, and the absence of our "War Widows" occur at the same time,—second thought, maybe it isn't so queer.

Report cards were passed out on Wednesday. It was said a few students passed out too.

The girls gym classes were kept in much to their regret, because of Co. D, 115 Engineers occupying Bennett Park.

"COCKTAIL GIRL"

by MAY CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS

While dancing with Henry Van Tyle, wealthy young bachelor, Julie Trevor tries all the lure of her sex to get him to propose. Julie needed money and marriage to Henry would solve her difficulties. Henry is about to weaken when Willie Krass, his rich, out-of-town friend, whom Henry calls "a diamond in the rough" interrupts and asks Julie for a dance. The thought flashes through her mind that until Henry definitely comes to the point, Willie could prove useful to her. Henry overhears Julie tell Willie that she does not want children. How frantic she would have been had she known that her ill-timed speech was the death-knell to Henry's proposal. Henry and his friend, George Loomis, leave the next day for Henry's stock farm in Kentucky. Martin, a neighboring cattle-owner is having trouble with the deputy inspector because the Martin live stock is diseased. Henry goes to see Martin and offer assistance. There he meets Virginia Randolph, young southern beauty. That night, Henry and George visit Virginia. She has invited her friend, Charlotte Wilber, nicknamed "Chottoy," to make it a foursome. The vivacious "Chottoy" is disappointed because Henry is not her partner, but hides her time. "Lefty" Glynn, Henry's manager is in love with "Chottoy." After five days' courtship, Virginia and Henry profess their love. Mr. Randolph approves of Henry but warns him that his daughter can be reached only through her affections. Some slight from one she loves may become a tragedy in her eyes. At the Kentucky Derby, while Virginia and George go to place a bet, Henry and "Chottoy" are approached by "Daffodil," the New York gossip. He tells Henry that Julie is anxious to know his whereabouts. "Daffodil" is annoyed by "Chottoy's" jokes and leaves.

"Let's go. No, I don't want a cocktail. I'm on the wagon. Sorry I'm late. I've booked a table at the Casino."

He had not given her the light, friendly kiss to which she had been accustomed on such occasions. Nor had he remarked, as heretofore: "Why, Julie, you look like a million dollars!"

His wish to leave her apartment immediately, too, seemed odd. She wouldn't give in to that! She said: "I'll be frightfully offended if you don't take just one little cocktail with me for luck? And with shaking hands she poured drinks into the two glasses she had previously drained, and thrust one on Henry.

"To the kiss I did not get!" She tilted up her glass, approaching him closer, with an attempt at roguishness.

"Good heavens!" thought he, "this isn't an auspicious time to tell her about Virginia!" And he looked sheepish and uncertain.

Her third cocktail down, and noticing Henry's awkwardness, Julie became more the mistress of the situation. She saw that Henry was not wearing the usual white flower in the lapel of his evening coat. Flitting gracefully over to a large bowl of white carnations, she snipped one off.

"Darling, let me decorate you! Where is the inevitable pin?" She felt under his coat lapel, then archly attached the flower in place. "You need me to look after you!" Her face was within four inches of his, so what could he do but give her the kiss she so earnestly expected? But he did it without enthusiasm—as Julie at once realized.

This confirmed her suspicions! What had happened in the interim of their last meeting to make him so chilly?

Arrived at the Casino, it wasn't any better, for, contrary to his former habit with her, he had reserved a table right on the edge of the dance floor. Their entry caused comment for they made a very striking-looking couple. After bowing to various friends, they sat rather glumly together—which was at once noticed and commented on.

It was an exquisite night in Spring. Julie gazed out at the lamplight trees, the shining grass outside the windows of the terrace.

"Don't you think it's exactly like Monte Carlo, Henry? You know those divine gardens directly outside the Café de Paris and the Casino? Oh, wouldn't you love to be there now? Monte Carlo in the Spring! I'd adore it. I can imagine nothing more heavenly!"

The unsatisfactory evening ended without Henry breaking to her the news of his engagement.

Julie Trevor was on tenter-hooks. The evening with Henry in the Casino had been profitless. That there was a definite change in him she knew. But it was hard on her vanity—and on her necessity, too—to really believe that he had slipped away from her.

what the Tokyo press called the "insufferable" hostility of Britain and the United States.

London dispatches said that the Germans apparently were starting a big offensive in the Ukraine, coordinated with their drive across the Crimea. The Axis push would be directed against the Don river defenses and the key city of Rostov, which has held out for almost a month against persistent German attacks.

London military authorities reported some details of losses which the Germans are suffering in their campaign to get to Moscow and Rostov. They said that 16 of 19 German panzer divisions had suffered "appreciable" losses, which probably means more than 10 per cent casualties, while 70 of 160 infantry divisions had suffered similar losses, with some of them losing up to 50 per cent of their effectives.

What such losses would mean in men and material is difficult to estimate, as it was pointed out that the divisions are constantly being reformed and reinforced, but the drain on the Axis war machine obviously has been heavy. The Red Army, just as obviously, has suffered a similar drain.

avoidance of a strike of 53,000 miners in captive pits or of some adjustment of a dangerous dispute.

The strike problem landed on the White House steps with a thud when the national defense mediation board voted 9 to 2 against giving Lewis a union shop in the captive mines. The strike menace arising from that action has excited congress until some hitherto stalwart democratic supporters of administration foreign policy have been announcing that they will not go another step with Mr. Roosevelt until he takes appropriate action to prevent labor interruptions of national defense production.

The bolt of CIO leaders from the mediation board, thus following Lewis, may lead to administrative or legislative action for revising the government's method of dealing with defense labor disputes.

The congressional gun is loaded with anti-labor legislation but only Mr. Roosevelt can pull the trigger.

Mrs. R. G. Risser has gone to Idaho Falls, Idaho, to join Mr. Risser, stationed there with the federal Department of Agriculture for the winter.

Miss Colleen Clayton was home for Armistice Day from Armstrong's Business College, at Berkeley.

George Ruoff was among those in town Thursday from the Summit section.

STOCKMEN HOLD IONE MEETING

The business meeting of the association brought out talks and discussion upon a variety of subjects of interest to the industry and perhaps chief among these was a report to the meeting concerning the possibility, not necessarily the probability, but the possibility of withdrawals of range lands for reclamation use was an item of some concern to the meeting.

Among prominent speakers at the meeting were W. P. Wing, secretary of the Woolgrowers' Association; Mr. Schalam, manager of the Pacific States Livestock Marketing Association; Ted Chamberlain, state association president; John Curran, state association secretary, and Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith.

Mr. Smith took note of the prevailing favorable trend of prices in the industry and cautioned the Stockmen against overburdening of the ranges. Allowances must properly be made for a continuing reasonable improvement and replenishing of the ranges.

Mr. Curran reviewed legislative matters of interest and called attention to the new federal law relative to the transportation of cattle across state lines. This was, it was understood, of particular interest in connection with the work of the cattle protection service.

Mr. Wing touched upon legislative matters and paid special attention to the history of the so-called "hot cargo act" and explained the reasons why it is important that the act be sustained.

Mr. Chamberlain made reference to the "meat for defense" program and called attention to plans for the state association convention at San Francisco December 12 and 13.

Mr. Schalam spoke with regard to changing world conditions and their effect upon the livestock industry.

The piece de resistance for the banquet was deliciously prepared turkey, garnished with an exceptionally fine entertainment program which was presented by Loren Barmert, as toastmaster. The usual dance closed the semi-annual meeting.

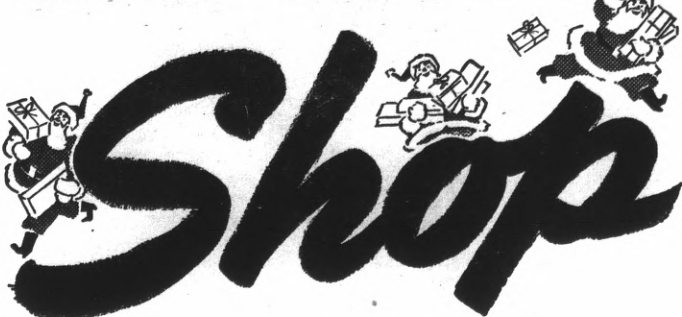

Eagles Auxiliary Opens Xmas Party Plans

Placerville Eagles Auxiliary began plans for its part in the annual Christmas party for the children of members by appointing committees at the meeting last Monday evening. In addition, five new applications for membership were presented.

The organization scheduled an initiation for Dec. 8.

Mrs. Calla Brauner, Mrs. Lilly Revaz, Mrs. Martha Fields and Mrs. La Verne Rohrer were named on Christmas entertainment and Mrs. Mary Lyons, Mrs. Josie Besse and Mrs. Florence Dames on purchasing gifts.

BEHIND The scenes in BUSINESS

BY JOHN CRADDOCK

BITS O' BUSINESS No perceptible change in retail trade levels, hovering around 6 to 8 per cent ahead of the pace this time last year. Same is true of industrial production, of which Federal Reserve Board says the index should hit 175 by the end of the year (compared to 105 before European war started) with 1941's total being about 25 per cent more than 1940's. Personal loan business is languishing, what with employment and wage boosts due to defense; one big financing company here has cut its staff of outside collectors by 66 per cent. Barber shops, beauty parlors, dry cleaning companies complain of higher costs; many are raising prices. Output of high-power aircraft engines by three leading U. S. builders—Pratt & Whitney division of United Aircraft, Wright Aeronautical and Allison division of G. M.—is now said to surpass "best estimates" of current production for all of Germany.

WASHINGTON—Possibility of anti-strike legislation; talk of "vastly greater" arms drive under the head of "Victory program," and consideration of another multi-billion-dollar tax bill this fall high-light capital business news. On the latter, the Treasury has estimated that between five and eight billion dollars of what it calls "extra" purchasing power must be "mopped up" quickly to guard against inflation. Tentative plan is for a three-way withdrawal of this "extra" cash—that is, buying power in excess of the goods available: (1) More general taxes, especially income taxes on individuals and excess profits taxes on corporations (applicable to 1942 earnings but enacted as soon as possible to people will start saving the money to meet the tax bill); (2) Sharply increased social security payroll taxes; (3) increased individual savings, represented by investments in defense bonds. Weekly payroll-deduction plan, to help employees save income-tax money will be urged on big employers.

LOOKING AHEAD—While focusing major attention on today's defense needs, American business executives are also planning for the future. Many of them predict a bright tomorrow after the flames of war have been stamped out. An outstanding example of this optimistic long-range view was offered recently by Lewis S. Rosenstiel, board chairman of Schenley Distillers corporation, who told a conference in Cincinnati: "We believe that American progress will exceed our fondest dreams. Airways will be freeways and highways, tomorrow. Freedom of the air will soon be a side partner of freedom of the seas, and America will champion both freedoms. Luxuries of today will become the necessities of tomorrow. There will be plenty for all and want for few. This will be made possible by the United States producing at a full throttle, at a pace heretofore undreamed of." Tomorrow, the Schenley executive predicted, "the United States will progress to a position of true world leadership—spiritual, social and economic."

IRON FIREMEN—You might not think such giant iron monsters as modern war tanks would have much peacetime use, but we've learned there is a real possibility the war juggernauts on which Uncle Sam is now doubling production may eventually be put to some peaceful, if violent, chores. In England, the science of fire fighting has made rapid advances under stress of the blitz. Now J. H. Connors, vice-president in charge of B. F. Goodrich's mechanical goods division, commenting upon a first-hand report he received from London on new fire-fighting techniques, along with a performance report on some 120 miles of fire hose recently shipped from Akron, said: "A heavily armored tank that can batter its way into a burning building is a real possibility as a fire fighting machine. The turret of such a tank would be equipped with hose nozzles instead of machine guns, and its cannons would spray fire-dead-ening chemicals instead of shells." There's a constructive answer to what we might do with our leftover military tanks, when and if we have some left over.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Special cement floors for shower rooms treated so that, when wet, they give off minute quantities of copper which kills "athlete's foot" germs (though you probably can't see the bactericide any better than you can the germ). Pretty close to the long-sought "perpetual motion" machine are new clocks so delicately adjusted that they are "wound up" by changes of temperature. Roof shingles in strips of four, for speedier installation, but so marked as to avoid a too-regular or "artificial" appearance. An electric heater made to be built into a wall, with safety grill and fan to distribute the warmed air. A wrist watch that can be set right to the second; pulling the stem stops the second hand while the other hands are being set. An apple beverage closely resembling freshly-pressed cider, but "keeping" indefinitely because of a flash pasteurizing process. All-plastic goggles for workers engaged in grinding and similar tasks—with no frames or side pieces to obstruct "horizon" vision.

Grocery Store Open House For Men Of Company D

It wasn't one of the formally scheduled events of the weekend, but Mrs. Alice Howe held open house for the men of Company D at her grocery store on Coloma Street at the city limits, during their stay here.

A number of the men of the company joined with Delbert Wilkinson in accepting his sister's invitation, and from what the soldiers had to say, if the company ever elects a house mother, Mrs. Howe will be an almost unanimous choice.
